

Edward Carrasco

Edward Carrasco has worked in the Homeless Veteran Reintegration Program (HVRP) at the Denver Department of Human Services for eight years, two years as a program administrator and six years as a case manager. He also assists homeless veterans to find stable employment and suitable housing.

Edward brings bilingual and bicultural skills to better serve a broad range of programs with insight, understanding and sensitivity. Prior to working in the HVRP, he taught classes in cultural competency, ESL, and state law while working with juvenile probation. He has worked as a rehabilitation/vocational counselor at The Return to Work Company and as associate director at The Living Workshop for Juveniles.

He received a B.A in Philosophy from University of Texas at El Paso, a guidance/counseling certificate from Santa Barbara City College and a case manager certificate from the University of Colorado. He was also honorably discharged from the U.S. Navy.
