

Robert Plummer

Robert Plummer has worked in the Homeless Veteran Reintegration Program (HVRP) at the Denver Department of Human Services for two and a half years.

Robert enlisted in the U.S Army and spent three years overseas stationed in West Germany. After his active duty career in the military, he spent four years in the reserves where he was re-called to active duty to augment other troops in Operation Desert Storm. He later joined the Pipefitters Union 208 in Denver, Colo.

Prior to enlisting in the U.S. Army, Robert worked at the San Francisco Stock exchange for four years. He began as a "runner" working his way to the position of "brokers assistant" in the trading crowds.

He was born in Des Moines, Iowa and raised in the Colorado Rockies. He is a true Broncos, Rockies and Nuggets fan.